Jennifer Pickering is a contemporary artist from British Columbia, Canada. She is currently based in Abu Dhabi where she is artist in resident and art teacher at the Creative British School. She has exhibited internationally in Canada, the USA, Mexico, Argentina, Finland and Germany. Much of her practice is based in site-specific interventions into public space through which she explores complex systems of information exchange. Issues of access and denial, of privilege, class, and where the power lies are central to her work.
